TWO CENTS

BELLEVERNON BAKERS CHARGED WITH SELLING ALL WHEAT BREAD

Samples Purchased Show Lack of Substitutes as Required

INVESTIGATION BEING MADE

Two out of town bakers, one located in North Belle Vernon and the other in Belle Vernon, are likely to feel the heavy hand of the law laid upon them within the next few days, if the report made out against them by Local Food Administrator Darby is acted upon.

For some time local bakers have been making complaint that bread without any of the substitutes provided for by the food regulations, was being sold in Charleroi and surrounding vicinity, to the detriment of the bakers who were observing the regulations as laid down by the government. One baker in Monessen was caught up on this charge and his activities suspended for a period of thirty days as a consequence, but the Belle Vernon bakers apparently not daunted continued to sell bread made from all-wheat flour.

On Saturday and Sunday, Mr. Darby, accompanied by members of his local committee, visited Belle Vernon, and made purchases of bread from the two bakers suspected and made an examination of the product. The bread as shown by the local committee is certainly a fine product of the baker's art and if it contained any of the substitutes required they were certainly small in amount. The bread was white of fine texture and stood up in the loaf as only wheat bread can.

After securing the samples and making an examination, Mr. Darby made a report to Mr. Lockhart, county Food Administrator, at the same time sending him samples of the bread in question. As a consequence it is likely that the Food Administrators of Westmoreland and Fayette counties will get busy and make a rigid investigation of the two bakers, each of whom is liable to draw a suspension as penalty for violations of the food regulations. It will take a few days before the cases are determined, after which action will likely be taken.

Both these bakers have been doing a large business, and one of them is erecting new ovens in order to take care of his rapidly increasing trade.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS ON MUNICIPAL BUILDING

Work on the new municipal building is proceeding in a most satisfactory manner. The concrete floor is being placed in the quarters to be used by the fire department, while piping for wiring and the sanitary system is being placed all over the building at a rapid rate. Carpenters have some of the rooms on the second floor about ready for plastering and this phase of the work will likely begin shortly. As the building is all enclosed now, every department of work can proceed without any interruption because of weather conditions.

WHEAT WILL BE HARVESTED

Farm Tenant Refuse To Do It, Or Allow Others To Cut It

CROP WILL NOW BE SAVED

Local Food Administrator Darby was sustained by County Food Administrator Lockhart in a local case which came under his jurisdiction a few days ago.

It transpires that last fall a man rented a farm from its owner, who lives in Charleroi. The renter planted quite a large field of wheat, but last winter becoming dissatisfied, asked to be released from his obligations. This the owner of the farm did, returning a portion of the cash rental which the farmer had paid. The renter then moved to Youngstown, O., where it is presumed he is working in one of the mills, attracted no doubt by the high wages paid.

His field of wheat in the meantime came on fine, and it was approaching harvest time, the owner expected the renter would return to take care of it. However as he did not put in an appearance and evinced no disposition to do so, the owner appealed to Mr. Darby as to what should be done as the owner of the wheat refused to harvest it or allow any one else to.

Mr. Darby at once decided that the proper thing to do was to have the owner of the farm cut and thresh the wheat, charging up against it the necessary expense of having it taken care of. He reported the circumstances to Mr. Lockhart, who sustained him, and now the owner of the farm will go ahead with the harvest. The idea is to save the wheat, in spite of the unwillingness of the man who owned to take care of it.

Word has been received of the safe arrival overseas of Robert Behrendt. He left here for Ft. Oglethorpe the first part of June.

Will Keep Tab On The Labor Slacker

The "labor slacker" in the coal and coke regions of Pennsylvania will likely be a thing of the past within a very short time, if the plans of the national government are carried out as now seems to be the prospect.

Orders issued on Saturday last in Fayette county by the fuel administration to operators establishes closer supervision upon labor in the Connellsville region than had been at first anticipated when members of the regional coke committee reached the decision to place a check upon the labor slacker.

Not only does the order require reports of men who have failed to work a full six days week, but the man who is absent from the operation a portion of one day comes under the provisions of the labor supervising regulations. The official text of the order contains the statement that "nothing but six days a week by every man will be satisfactory to the United States government," and fuel officials are determined that the desired results shall be attained by this system if possible, but by other means if necessary.

The text of the order is couched in such emphatic terms as to make impossible any misunderstanding of its contents by the workers. These workers are placed upon the same basis as the American soldiers now pounding away at the Hun in France and they are recalled upon to make their records glorious and inspiring as the boys over there, who are now thrilling the nation by their valiant advance on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry front. Under the provisions of the order operators are required to furnish to the fuel administration the name and address of every man absent from work a day or a portion of a day, with the reason he gives for such absence. A report must be made of every man who leaves an operation with the name of his new employer if possible duplicate lists of irregular workers must be posted in conspicuous places on the bulletin board. Increase in the output of the region is the cause given for these regulations which are now in effect and which will be carried out strictly to the letter.

SENDS RELICS FROM THE BATTLE FIELDS

Relics from the battle fields of France are now on display in the window of John's drug store, Fallowfield avenue. They consist of an Austrian belt, with the shoulder insignia as well as a number of buttons used on the uniforms. A piece of blue and white ribbon from a German Iron Cross is also shown, as well as a finger ring picked up on the field. The relics are very interesting souvenirs and give the folks at home a glimpse of some of the things used by the soldiers of the contending armies on the far-flung battlelines in Belgium and France. The relics were sent by Walter Brimwich a member of the Sixth United States Engineers.

BASE BALL GAME ENDS IN A HEATED ARGUMENT

In a base ball game at the local park last evening, between white and a colored team the colored umpire got into trouble because of a decision which caused considerable argument. The division of opinion became so heated that the arbiter finally pulled a knife which he threatened to use, but the arrival of the local police put an end to his belligerency. He was chased across the field and captured, after which he was taken to police headquarters, where he put up a forfeit of $12 for his appearance this evening.

SHIP IS NAMED FOR THE MONONGAHELA

The Monongahela valley and river have been honored by the United States Shipping Board in naming one of the vessels taken over from Germany the "Monongahela." This vessel was formerly the "Dalback" and was captured by the United States navy. It was declared "in harbor at Portland, Ore." There it was taken over by the United States government and renamed after our noble river. The Monongahela left San Francisco a few days ago on a seven-months' voyage and it had the peculiar distinction of being the first ship in the United States Merchant Marine to sail with an All-American crew, a distinction of which the Captain was very proud.

CHARLES O. FRYE IS NOW AN EDITOR

The Mail is in receipt of a small publication called "The Lake Periscope," which is published by the employees of the Lake Torpedo Boat Co., of Bridgeport, Conn. The paper is a 3-column eight page journal, with Charles O. Frye a former resident of Charleroi, as editor. The paper is newsy and well printed and shows that careful and painstaking consideration for which Mr. Frye was well known when a resident here.

Miss Stella Lentz has returned from a visit with friends at Chicora.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Tenny have moved from Greensburg to Charleroi.

NO FOUNDATION FOR CASUALTY RUMORS

Rumors were in circulation in Charleroi and vicinity on Monday with reference to the casualty list of the present allied offensive movement in France, and particularly with reference to the safety of some local boys. There is no foundation for these rumors, as no casualty list has been sent by Gen. Pershing of how badly the Twenty-eighth Division suffered in its drive of last week against the Hun. Of course they will arrive in due time, but in the meantime we should not make conditions worse by circulating rumors which have no foundation.

MARINE BAND HERE THURSDAY

Patriotic Concert And Addresses Will Be Features Of Visit

ARE SEEKING LOCAL RECRUITS

The date for the appearance of the Marine Band, First, the band was scheduled to appear Tuesday evening, then it was changed to Wednesday evening and now it is changed to Thursday evening. Burgess Woodward received word this morning from the officer in charge of the recruiting service with the Marines that the band and speakers, consisting of not Hillman Transportation company, less than 40 men, would be in Charleroi Thursday evening July 25, at the hour previously advertised.

Burgess Woodward is accordingly making the necessary arrangements, in the expectation that the meeting will be one of the greatest ever held in Charleroi. The purpose of the band and speakers in coming to Charleroi, which is one of the three towns it will visit on its present trip, is to secure recruits for the new Marine regiment which it is proposed to raise in Pittsburg and vicinity. The only other town outside of Pittsburg to be visited by the recruiting will be McKeesport, after which the band will come to our town.

Citizens are therefore requested to note the change of date, which is Thursday, July 25, and the hour of the meeting will be 7:30 o'clock p. m. although the recruiting officer will be at the Hotel Wilbur from 5 to 7 p. m. to receive the applications of any young men of the community who may desire to enlist.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feste and Mary Barthelot of 225 McKean avenue visited at Pittsburg Sunday.

Would Save Time In Passing Boats Up and Down Stream

MAY LENGTHEN LOCK CHAMBERS

Many suggestions have been offered and much talk indulged in as to proposed plans and prospects for the enlargement of the locks on the Monongahela river, especially during the past year, which has been a record breaker in the way of coal and coke shipments, and with prospects of even greater activities in the future.

With that end in view a conference of government officials and coal men was held at Lock No. 4 on Friday last, to determine if possible and devise ways and means for the betterment of the shipping interests, which are growing at a rapid rate. Lieut. Col. H. M. Sickle, Engineer in charge, and W. D. Fairchild, assistant engineer of the Pittsburg district, representing the government, accompanied by Capt. Warren Elsey, Capt. James Moran, Frank Tilley, Capt. Henderson, Capt. Burton, and Capt. Howler and others met at Lock 4 to consider the various propositions.

Various suggestions were offered, and one in particular, which was adopted, was to lengthen the lock chambers. This could then pass through either up or down stream without breaking her tow, which would result in a great deal of time saved. To widen the locks by removing the middle wall was talked of but not so favorably as the first proposition made.

One of the most practical and most favorably considered proposition was made by Capt. Howler of the band and speakers, consisting of not Hillman Transportation company, less than 40 men, would be in Charleroi Thursday evening July 25, at the approaches to and from the locks, especially at Lock No. 4, by finishing the guile walls above and below the locks. This important work has been delayed owing to the scarcity of material and labor, as scarcity which still exists and which would be a severe handicap in any movement toward carrying out this suggestion. However, special surveys have been made at the different locks for the purpose of adding to their length. No definite action has been taken, but the matter is still under consideration by the government officials.

So far no trouble has been experienced in taking care of the traffic at Lock 4, and at no time has there been a congestion but which has been rapidly cleared away.

"Beyond the Marne lies Paris," said the Germans. And beyond the Rhine lies Berlin, with the Huns headed in that direction.

Word has been received by Mrs. Mrs. Augusta Pollock of Fifth street of the safe arrival overseas of her son H. T. Barthelot.

THE USES OF ADVERSITY

Not all of the effects of this horrible world war will be entered permanently upon the debit side of the ledger. Out of the turmoil of suffering, bereavement, and anguish, wastage of wealth, hardship, self denial and sacrifice, much of lasting benefit to the people as a whole will inevitably come. Many new lessons will be learned. Many new ideals will be born. The composite view of life will be immeasurably broadened.

For sweet are the uses of adversity. And this is perhaps far truer today than when the expression was coined years and years ago.

America today is undergoing a process of character refining such as has never been experienced heretofore.
The nation has had other trials. Its very existence has been threatened in the past. Its honor has been assailed; its good name before the world menaced. But never before has either of these things meant so much as they mean today to more than one hundred million people, representative of democracy, of freedom of liberty, before the world.

And the American character is responding nobly to this tempering. The American will is being strengthened tremendously. The American standard is intensified. The American morale solidified into an irresistible determination to win this war and humble the predatory ambitions of Kaiser Bill at whatever cost.

America will emerge from this world holocaust more than ever united in its ideals for a world wide brotherhood of man.

Every day the American purpose and thought are becoming more directly centered upon the paramount business of winning this war. Daily we are coming more and more to appreciate that accomplishing this means greater concessions, personally and financially. Sacrifice is becoming the rule rather than the exception and patriotism instead of being an incidental side issue is becoming the prime factor in actuating our thoughts words and deeds.

All of which means for our immediate encouragement unbending morale and for our ultimate glorification a stauncher loyalty, a better and more ideal citizenship.

And whatever America may do for the world at large she will not fail in having done quite as much for herself and for her lasting honor both at home and abroad.

TO BUILD CHANNEL TUNNEL

The old project of a tunnel under the English Channel seems to have passed beyond the stage of probability to that of practical certainty, France having added its indorsement to that of England. At a recent meeting of the International Parliamentary Conference at London the French and Italian delegates supported the scheme and the conference voted unanimously in favor of the earliest possible completion of the work. According to the experts who have investigated, the proposed tunnel is neither a visionary project nor one that presents many serious difficulties.
The depth of the Channel nowhere exceeds 180 feet and it is proposed to tunnel only 100 feet below the bottom, a cover of such thickness over the underground passage being regarded as sufficient. Power houses ten miles inland are proposed as well as a 'water lock' that could flood a mile of the tunnel at any time within a few minutes if emergency required.

Such a tunnel would have been invaluable during the present war as a means of transporting troops, of saving many lives and of reducing the suffering of the transported wounded and sick. It would in a large measure have brought immunity from the peril of mines as well as of submarines. Such a new route between England and the Continent would be scarcely less valuable during times of peace, not only saving the traveling public from the very often rough surface passage but facilitating trade. The building of this link between the two nations now separated by rough water, it has been suggested in the House of Commons, would be an admirable way of celebrating the victory of the Allied armies.

FEARS THE AMERICAN

That the German high military authorities fear the American soldier, and his presence on the battle front is shown by the manner in which he is treated in the official communiques sent out from Berlin.

The Plunderbund of Germany has attempted to quiet the people of that country with the assurance that it would be impossible for the United States to send any number of troops to France; that the vessels were not available to carry the number of men we claim to have on the other side and even if we had them the U-boats would prevent their sailing.

That those high in authority can get away with statements of this kind is verified by German prisoners recently taken, who refused to believe that the United States had soldiers in France in any considerable number. They were not only dubious but could not conceive how such a large number could be brought to France, even if the facilities were available.

However the Hun is due for an uncomfortable awakening. The present drive, in which the American soldier is such an important part is going to impress itself so forcibly upon the Germans in the trenches that it will get back to the people at home within a very short time. The German military officers cannot tell their men that the Americans are not there; the German soldier has found it out and to his sorrow. He knows the American soldier is not only his equal, but his superior and that he will not be denied. The Hun may be able to recognize his line and hold for a time, but when "Our Army" is over there, and the big offensive begins, it will be "good night" for the Boche.

LIBERIA'S CENTENNIAL

This may be called the centennial year of the negro republic of Liberia because that action of West Africa was chosen in 1818 as a suitable spot whereon to plant the colony, although it was not until 1821 that the second attempt to ship and found a colony succeeded. The colonization scheme itself, originating in a desire to remove the negroes from the country for the country's good, dates back as far as 1777 when Thomas Jefferson advocated the deportation of the blacks. Other prominent statesmen, including Henry Clay, favored the plan in the earlier times. Even as late as 1862 the project was favored by Abraham Lincoln, who declared that the separation of the races was the only solution of the problem, but the success of Liberia being doubtful, he favored colonization in purchased Central American territory.

Lincoln's plan came to nothing partly because the spokesmen for the negroes objected and partly because the black man had by that time become and for many years remained what has been termed the "pet of politicians." The only one of numerous schemes that was ever carried out was that of the American Colonization Society founded in 1817 which planted a permanent colony of American negroes in Liberia in 1821. In spite of many tribulations this colony endured gradually growing from natural increase and occasional accessions from the United States. Liberia now has a population of about a million and a half, it is enrolled among the Allied nations nominally or actually at war with Germany, and its chief port was shelled by German submarines a few months ago.

PASS THEM BY.

Anent the report of our local food administrator with reference to bakers in outside communities violating the food regulations by baking bread without the usual amount of substitutes, the public should not lose sight of the fact that when they patronize such bakers they are patronizing a concern that by its actions is helping the Kaiser. If these baking firms were passed by because of their violations, they would soon see the trend of public sentiment and be ready and willing to obey the regulations. However, when one of these fellows "dips in" and produces all wheat bread he has hundreds of people who are ready to buy his product.

We should remember that wheat is wanted by the government to send to France to feed our soldiers and our allies who are battling at the front, and who are ready and willing to sacrifice everything for us. In return we certainly ought to be patriotic enough to pass by any baker or other food dealer who refuses to obey the regulations of the United States government as to the composition and distribution of foodstuffs. Patriotic citizens ought to make it hard for any evader of regulations or the law to get by with actions tending to oppose the wishes of the government.

PEARLS FIND READY MARKET

Those From the Mississippi Only Slightly Second in Demand to Deep Water Products.

Arkansas is the greatest pearl producing state in the Union, and hundreds of men engage in the pearl hunt. It is said that the fresh water pearl of Arkansas of the highest class cannot be distinguished from the finest deep sea jewel. Throughout the south generally thousands of people follow the pearl fishing industry and make a comfortable living at it. Up to a few years ago the jewel wealth contained in the river beds of the Mississippi valley was completely hidden. It was not supposed that the fresh water mussel was a pearl bearer, or that it had any value except for fish bait.

The fresh water mussel is sought now not only for the precious stone it may have hidden in its shell, but for the shell itself, which is manufactured into stick pins, cuff links, and buttons of every description. The shell fisheries have for years extended far up the Mississippi river. A recent writer on the subject puts fresh water pearls into four classifications—true pearls, baroque, slugs, and chicken feed.

The first, or true, pearls are of a definite shape, and regular form, round, oval, or pear shaped. These command the highest prices. Baroque are pearls of irregular form. Slugs are low grade baroque. The smaller size, the kind used in inexpensive though genuine and neat jewelry, go by the professional name of chicken feed.

MERELY A POPULAR BELIEF

Scholars Question Whether the Apple Was the "Forbidden Fruit" in the Garden of Eden.

Why and how it has happened that the apple has been spoken of as the fruit that was forbidden in the Garden of Eden is one of the great puzzles of Biblical scholars. The fact is that in Genesis 3, where the incident of the eating of this fruit of the "Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil" is mentioned, no name whatever is given to the fruit. All that is said is: "And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat" (verse 6).

In fact, scholars doubt very seriously whether it was the apple at all.
They suggest that all evidence points to it having been the quince, fragrance of which was, held in the highest esteem by the Orientals. Another point in favor of the quince is that it is the fruit which was sacred to Venus, the goddess of love, and in a great many of the ancient writings the quince is very frequently mentioned in this manner. In Babylonia Ishtar took the place of Venus in the Roman mythology, and it should be remembered that the story of the creation originated with the Babylonians. All evidence seems to point away from the apple having been the "Forbidden Fruit," and towards the quince as having been that fruit of the "Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil."

Wordsworth on Real Estate.

There is an interesting story of Wordsworth, who went to call on Miss Harriet Martineau at Ambleside, in the house which she had built and laid out, writes A. C. Benson in the Century Magazine. There was a gathering of neighbors present, and Wordsworth stood for a long time at the window contemplating the beautiful landscape outside. Then he turned to the party and said:

"Miss Martineau, I congratulate you on your beautiful little domain. The views are wonderful, and it will turn out to be the wisest thing you ever did in your life."

He paused for a moment, and the guests expected some comment on the uplifting effects of communion with nature, but Wordsworth, with a fine gesture, continued:

"Your property will certainly be trebled in value within the next ten years!"

Living in Poise.

To improve yourself, the first essential is to prevent all waste of energy by living in poise. The second essential is to use your imagination in picturing those things that you want to accomplish now. And the most practical use that can be made of the imagination is to picture your talents and facilities larger, greater and more perfect. To imagine in mind a larger and more perfect talent is to give the creative forces in mind a better model; and as these forces always create after the fashion of the latest model, they will consequently create the larger and the more perfect talent.—Larson.

Different Thing Entirely.

This story is being told on a Kansas lawyer. The lawyer was arguing a case before a judge and, desiring to illustrate by supposing a case, he did so, as follows: "We will suppose, your honor," he said, "that your honor were to steal a horse."—"No! No!
No!" interrupted the judge, "not at all, not at all, sir. That's a supposable case, sir." "Very well, begging your honor's pardon," said the eager lawyer with more zeal than prudence.
"Very well, then; supposing that I should steal a horse."—"Ah, yes, yes," said the judge, "that is a different thing, very different, Mr. X. Proceed, sir."

CALLED LOW CLASS OF ART

Sweeping Indictment of Music to Which Song "Home, Sweet Home" Has Been Set.

Though the oldest piece of English music in existence, "Summer is Icu-men in" is quite modern in comparison with a score of the "Orestes" of Euripides, dating from the fourth century B. C., which was exhibited at the international exhibition of music at Vienna some years ago. Even more ancient is the chant "The Blessing of the Priest," which was sung in the temple of Jerusalem before the captivity, and is still in use in the Jewish synagogues in Spain and Portugal.

"Home, Sweet Home"—the song of a homeless American—once moved Robert Louis Stevenson to an outburst of passionate protest. But it was the music rather than the words that roused his indignation. You will find the passage in "Across the Plains".
I have no idea whether musically this air is to be considered good or bad; but it belongs to that class of art which may best be described as a brutal assault upon the feelings. Pathos must be relieved by dignity of treatment, declares an English writer. If you wallow naked in the pathetic, like the author of "Home, Sweet Home," you make your hearers weep in an unmanly fashion, and even yet while they are moved they despise themselves and hate the occasion of their weakness.

PREPARE MEAT FOR SHIPMENT

South American Frigorificos Will Soon Be Turning Out an Immense Supply of Food.

A frigorifico is a freezing plant in South America. It is a plant that freezes fat cattle or sheep or lambs and sends them in refrigerated ships northward to Europe. Perhaps later they will send them to the United States.

On the Island of Tierra del Fuego, far south to the jumping off place, sheep get very fat on the good grass.
Incredible as it may seem, a short time ago fine fat sheep were boiled down for their tallow. Now a modern frigorifico is prepared to kill them and send them north of the equator.
There is another of these newly erected frigorificos at Rio Gallegos, another a little way up the coast at San Julian and other new ones are at Bahia Blanca.

These frigorificos make possible the directing of a great stream of good lamb and mature mutton northward, and we here may expect to see it come, sooner or later. Cattle are not killed at these southern frigorificos, but farther north, near Buenos Aires and in Uruguay are great establishments that kill chiefly cattle. To facilitate the getting of sheep to the frigorificos the government is building the Patagonia state railways, leading to the interior.—Breeder's Gazette.

Ownership of Land Accretion.

The title of an owner of land to any accretions to the land was the question presented to the supreme court of appeals of Virginia in Egghorn vs.
Smith, in which interesting decisions on the point involved are cited in the Virginia case the plaintiff's husband for a consideration permitted a railroad company to deposit rock and earth on land owned by him during double-tracking work, under contract that all such material not removed before the work was completed should remain permanently. The owner executed a deed of trust of the land without serving the material so deposited, but on the day the property was sold under foreclosure of the trust deed he attempted to convey the material as personality to the complainant. The court found that the complainant had made no claim to the property until five years after its deposit, when it was overgrown with vegetation, and held that "the material was realty and not personal property, and passed to the purchaser on foreclosure of the trust deed."

Honor Man Struck by Lightning.

To be struck by lightning is still a most lucky thing for the Greek peasant—if he is not killed. Such a man, says J. C. Lawson, "may indulge a taste for idleness for the rest of his life—his neighbors will support him—and enjoy at the same time the reputation of being something more than human." This is an inheritance from ancient days. Artemidorus, an authority on occult matters who flourished in the time of Marcus Aurelius, commented on the fact that while a place was struck by lightning had an altar erected upon it, and was thenceforth both honored and avoided, "no one who has been struck by lightning is excluded from citizenship; indeed, such a one is honored even as a god." The election of Quintus Julius Eburnus to the consulship in 116 B. C. is attributed to his having been favored thus by the gods.

Long-Lived Mines and Profits.

Are long-lived mines more profitable than short-lived ones? The average investor would consider this a foolish question, assuming naturally that the longer a mine lasts the greater the accumulated profits.

Just about the contrary is the case.
The figures supplied by the mines department of Johannesburg, where the regularity of deposits on the Rand makes it possible to gauge the lives of mines with accuracy, should convince the skeptic that owing to compound interest a long life does not add to the value of a mine to the extent commonly assumed.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

ALMOST A SHADOW, AFRAID TO EAT

"My son-in-law was so bad from stomach trouble that he was reduced to almost a shadow and was afraid to eat anything, as all food caused bloating of gas which pressed against his heart, worrying him very much. Our druggist persuaded him to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and in two months he looked fine, can eat anything and works hard every day." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

AFTER AN OPERATION

Ohio Man Tells How to Gain Strength East Liverpool, Ohio—"After an operation, I was weak, run-down, and slow to recuperate—I was advised to take Vinol and the results were wonderful, I have a good appetite and sleep fine, I am always glad to tell anyone what Vinol has done for me."—Joseph Weiser.

There is no secret about Vinol—It owes its success in such cases to beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glyce-rophosphates, the oldest and most famous body building and strength creating tonics. Pipers Drug Store have won everywhere, and the like.

Remarkable Cures

Thankful People Tell What San Cura
Ointment Did for Them

Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., Druggists, sell San Cura Ointment on the money-back plan—no relief—no pay. Guaranteed to relieve eczema, tetter, salt rheum, itching, bleeding or protruding piles, burns, cuts, bruises, old sores, pimples, boils, carbuncles, chapped hands, chilblains, festers, insect bites and poison from ivy.

"My face and neck were one mass of sores; doctor said I had eczema and erysipelas. I had not slept for weeks with burning, itching pain. The first time I used San Cura Ointment I slept all night and in a short time was completely cured."—Chas. Fay, Townville, Pa.

"My wife stepped on a rusty nail and ran it into her foot. San Cura Ointment drew out a poisonous brown pus and cured her promptly."—Eugene McKenzie, Plum, Pa.

"I had been afflicted over thirty years with piles and spent over $500 for pile medicine. Two jars of San Cura Ointment cured me."—James Lynch, Enterprise, Pa.

San Cura Ointment costs 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., Druggists, and is a splendid remedy for burns, scalds, cuts and bruises.

PROMPTNESS in answering the telephone is a mark of courtesy shown the caller. It is also a help to the operator for it enables her to complete the call and to give her attention to others. Promptness in these days of action is most important.

Telephone calls should be answered promptly, for sometimes the calling person does not wait and "hangs up." If this happens the subscriber who has been called should not blame the operator when she asks him to "excuse it, please."

Why not a Joan of Arc statue in Washington? We should have done well in the first place to set up a monument there in honor of the brave inspired French girl who saved her country instead of accepting the offer of statue of Frederick the Great, who like the present Kaiser, was disposed to "save" and serve Germany by brutally trampling down other countries.

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Sickman and Mrs. I. E. Rowland spent Tuesday in Pittsburgh.

LITERAL IN HIS THEOLOGY

Darkey Preacher's Humorous Comment on Biblical Text As He Understood Its Meaning.

Of old the right of individual private interpretation of the scriptures was not accorded to the laity. Only the priests or preachers were authorized to say what was meant by the sacred text. That has all been changed, and no man will now be expelled from the most orthodox church for believing that Balaam's palace mule did not really address his fellow citizens of Judea on the political issues of the day, or considering that the statement of the sun's standing still at the order of Captain Joshua was an illustrative allegory and not the record of a frozen fact.

This advance in theology is illustrated by the story of the darkey preacher who delivered a sermon from the text, "These eight did Milcah bear."

"Milcah," said he, "you is singularly blessed by de Lawd in dis generation. If you wants some milk, you done goes to youah cow, and at one milk you gets enough of de lactiferous fluid for eight people. In de olden times of which de Bible speaks it took eight folks to milk a bear, en I spees dey gets mighty little milk at dat."—Los Angeles Times.

Spiders Catch and Eat Fish.

Specimens of the spider known as Thalerius Spenceri are in the museum at Durban, Natal, and the curator, E. C. Chubb, has just made scientific announcement of the discovery of a member of this species in the act of catching fish for food.

"One of the spiders was captured several years ago by the Rev. N. Abraham at Greytown, and it was placed in an aquarium. A servant boy soon noticed the creature eating a pet fish, and the startled clergyman left his study to watch.

The spider, three inches across with legs extended, stationed itself at the water's edge, with two legs on a stone and the eight others spread out on the water. After a time a fish came under the outstretched legs, which were suddenly thrown around it as the spider made a plunge, driving its fangs into its prey, and then at once climbing out on the rocks. It soon ate a fish of four times its own weight.

Bagdad and Queen of Sheba.

The Bagdad of the "Arabian Nights" still exists, but in a greatly diminished form. In fact the grand old palaces and mosques of its prime are nearly all in ruins, and only a small population lives where once was a city of 2,000,000 people. A new city is gradually coming into existence on the opposite (east) bank of the Tigris, the site being valuable from a commercial point of view. The inhabitants number about 200,000, and are mainly Bedouins. The famous palace of Haroun-al-Raschid has disappeared, and the foreign consulates occupy its site.

It is only a tradition which asserts that the queen of Sheba, who once visited King Solomon, lies buried under an eight-sided brick tower bearing her name in old Bagdad. The citizens have ceased to venerate it, we are told, and the tower is approaching a state of ruin.

Concerning Men With Tails.

It would not be wise to build upon the story of the coast natives that in the interior of Papua there are men with tails. Similar beliefs have been held in many parts of the world and many ages, sometimes from impressions of apes, sometimes from more or less spiteful credulity about a people's neighbors. For centuries it was a common gibe on the Continent that Englishmen had tails. It originated from the story that the people of Canterbury or Strood, having mocked at St. Thomas riding upon a little ass and cut off its tail, were punished with the curse that thenceforth all their boys should be born with tails. And the scoffs of other Englishmen at the "Kentish longtails" rebounded upon the whole nation, so that even in the time of Edward VI. Englishmen abroad suffered from the taunt.

THINKS INVIGORATION IS IN AIR

Writer's Explanation of Vital Difference Between the Londoner and the New Yorker.

"The difference between New York and London," a man once said to me, "is this: In New York, if you have a new idea, you can get it carried out at once; in London, if you have a new idea, you are up against a brick wall."

I believe this to be true, writes Maurice Barling in the Metropolitan. People in New York, and in America in general, are not afraid of new ideas, nor, indeed, of anything new. They are not afraid of the future. In England, if a man finds, for instance, that his profession is uncongenial to him, however certain he may be of the impossibility of his making a success of it, he will none the less very rarely give it up, and try his hand at something else. The future alarms him. In America a man will think nothing of throwing up his profession twenty times running, until he finds something which does suit him.

I think the cause of this particular difference lies in the climate of America, and especially lies in the climate of New York. Just as the climate of some places fills the whole system with an invincible desire to do nothing, with an insuperable languor and sloth, in the same way the climate of New York fills the body and mind with the desire to be up and about. It is the nimble air which produces the nimble wits; the stimulating atmosphere which creates, in the denizens of New York, the love of bustle, hurry competition and work. I am not saying this is either a good thing or a bad thing—I am merely noting and recording what struck me as being the main differences between New York and London.

WILL GET MONEY NEXT TIME

Little Likelihood That Mrs. Crabbe Will Have Opportunity to Cash Hubby's Check Again.

"Henry," said Mrs. Crabbe, "don't you never give me another check to cash. Always give me the money after this, please."

"Why, what was the matter with the check?"

"Nothing was wrong with the check, but the cashier didn't want to take it, and said I had to be identified. I told him my name was Mrs. Crabbe, and asked him if he didn't see it on the long line, but he just shook his head, and said I had to find some one who knew me."

"And who did you find?"

"No one I asked him if he didn't know you."

"What did he say?" asked Mr. Crabbe, eagerly, but with modesty.

"He said, 'Of course I know him.'"

"And then he cashed it?" said Mr. Crabbe, his chest expanding visibly.

"Not right then. He asked me to describe you."

"Of course that was sufficient?"

"Yes. I told him you were a sawed-off, hammered-down, bald-headed, pigeon-toed man, with a red mustache and a mole on your nose. That you wore a fifteen collar and a ten-year-old blue suit, and that you held on to a dime lighter than a letter holds a glued postage stamp. I was going into further details, but he stopped me and said, 'All right, Mrs. Crabbe, just endorse the check on this line, please.'"

As Koreans Shop.
Shopping in Korea is a very grave and solemn task and occupies the master of the house the greater part of the day. In the market here he purchases his provisions, cooking utensils, linen suits, hats, sandals, tobacco, and the native drink, a liquor obtained from fermented rice.

Only one article of the same kind is purchased from a single store. It would be an offense against Korean etiquette to buy a dozen at a time, as this would deplete the stock too quickly and give the shopkeeper the trouble and work of restocking before he was ready. It will therefore be seen that wholesale orders are not welcomed in this odd country: "little and often" appears to be the golden rule in buying.—Wide World Magazine.

Four Perfect Women.

The prophet Mahomet is reported to have said that "among men there have been many perfect, but not more than four of the other sex have attained perfection—to wit: Asiah, Mary, Khadijah and Fatima." Asiah was the wife of the Pharaoh of the Exodus. She forsook the faith of her fathers, on account of which her husband subjected her to many cruelties. The Virgin Mary was the second perfect woman, the prophet stating that "she had been exalted above all the women of the world." Khadijah was the first wife of the prophet, "a princess among women." Fatima, according to Mahomet, was the fourth perfect woman, she being his beloved daughter.

Evidently Ready for Him.

A gentleman who had been in town only three days, but who had been paying attention to a prominent belle wanted to propose, but was afraid he would be thought too hasty. He delicately broached the subject as follows:

"If I were to speak to you of marriage, after having only made your acquaintance three days ago, what would you say to it?"

"Well, I should say never put off till tomorrow that which you should have done the day before yesterday."—Life

POLICE OFFICER

MONROE TALKS

Grateful to Tanlac for Wonderful Improvement in His Health.

Officer W. S. Monroe, who lives at 1731 Sixth St., Harrisburg and is so popular among visitors to the park, said:

"My stomach had gone back on me entirely, I was constipated and my kidneys troubled me greatly.

"I had no appetite, my food didn't digest well and I lacked energy. I felt tired and dispirited all the time as though something unpleasant was going to happen. Nervousness, I guess.

"One day when I was down town I happened to talk with the Tanlac man and he told me of a number of cases similar to mine where the people, many of them right here in Harrisburg had been cured by Tanlac. I bought a bottle and started taking it. Well sir, you can believe me or not but the very first doses did me good. I could feel it sort of nosing around inside of me hunting out the trouble and before I had finished the first bottle I felt a hundred per cent better.

"Now I eat with a relish, my stomach is in fine shape and those bad headaches I used to suffer with have left me entirely and I can only thank Tanlac.

Tanlac can now be had at Pipers Pharmacy.

"AND A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM"

Are values in our community shrinking? Is our neighboring town getting ahead faster than ours? Are we making a poor bargain? Have we cause to wish we had done differently? Then this old familiar picture (one of the best known in the world) may start us thinking on the right track: Home values are bound to shrink, if our policy of trading is wrong. We only need to borrow the wisdom of a child to appreciate the value of trading at home. Patronize the Home Merchant.
